Programme Overview

Leadership has always hogged the limelight in the business world and with the increasing volatility across the world, the challenges of leadership too have increased tremendously. The geographic conflicts which have led to new geo-political and strategic considerations have hugely impacted the sources of raw materials and markets as well. Further, the emerging flash points in new geographies are also a cause of concern for the business world as the supply chains are expected to take a big hit due to uncertain conditions and volatile situations.

The leadership in the public sector enterprises needs to be sensitized about the nuances of business volatility caused due to various social, political and economic reasons. The need of the hour is to understand how business is undergoing a metamorphosis in a volatile world coupled with volatile markets.

The Advanced Leadership Programme 2023 is aptly titled, 'Imperative Leadership Skills for a Volatile World' and is aimed at creating awareness among the senior executives of the public sector enterprises. The programme is designed to sensitize the participants about the various skills needed in the volatile world which include learning competencies, adversity management, risk management, project management, team building skills, etc. That apart, the programme also provides insights into the emerging technologies which have altered the landscape of the business world.

The Programme

The ALP 2023 programme is designed to sensitize the participants about various domains of general management with a specific focus on the current volatile business environment. The participants will be sensitized towards the issues which enable them to wade through the volatility. They include, learning agility, risk assessment and management, executing projects effectively in uncertain times, managing people in a volatile environment, creating resilient teams, creating a purpose for the organization, leading through collaboration, Stress Management, etc.

The programme will be conducted for five days at IPE, Hyderabad followed by a two-week study tour to a few European countries to enable the participants to have an exposure to the best practices followed in those countries. Such an exposure enables the participants to have a better understanding of volatility across global businesses.

Participants Speak

The ALP 2019 conducted by IPE was a power packed corporate learning program for senior management. Coupling to its theme, the contents and the lectures were excellent both in the country and abroad. Bundled with classroom and workshop sessions in leading institutes like RSM, BSL, SDA Bocconi and an industrial tour to internationally established manufacturing facilities, the two-week program was a thriller equally in learning and excitement with international exposure to best principles and practices in corporate management. The course coordinator and faculty of IPE, who took all the pain to travel with us, made excellent arrangements throughout the itinerary. It was once in lifetime memorable experience for the participants.

Dr Braja B Nayak, Executive Director, Corporate Planning & Aerospace, ECIL, Hyderabad

The Advanced Leadership Programme by IPE was an immaculately conceived and executed programme with plenty of takeaways for all the participants. The subjects dealt were very contemporary and pertinent. Overall a memorable learning experience with a wonderful group of officers from various organisations at domestic and international locations.

P Sasidharan, General Manager, (Engineering Services), MIDHANI, Hyderabad

The course was a total eye opener and I benefited greatly from the program. The content of the program was excellent and covered almost all relevant topics. Faculty members (both of IPE as well as from other organisations) had excellent domain knowledge and were able to keep all of us engrossed. Field visits to a variety of locations and interactions with people who were using AI/ML tools, was an awesome experience.

Deepankar Sarma, General Manager, Oil India Limited, Duliajan, Assam

The ALP on 'Strategic Agility in the Digital Age' organized by the Institute of Public Enterprise was a great opportunity to have an insight into the importance of strategic planning in this digital age. The exposure provided us with a high-end learning experience at various prestigious Institutes of International standards. The program was very well designed and conducted by the IPE team creating one of lifetime experience.

Vishwa Sri, Deputy General Manager – Finance, NMDC Ltd, Hyderabad
